DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC (See 37 CFR 1.52(e)(5) and MPEP 608.05. Computer program listings (37 CFR 1.96(c)), "Sequence Listings" (37 CFR 1.821(c)), and tables having more than 50 pages of text are permitted to be submitted on compact discs.) or
REFERENCE TO A "MICROFICHE APPENDIX" (See MPEP § 608.05(a). "Microfiche Appendices" were accepted by the Office until March 1, 2001.)
- (e) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
 - (1) Field of the Invention.
 - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (f) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (g) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (h) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (i) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (j) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "notably" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim 2 recites the limitation "that mode" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. What mode is being referred to?

Claims 4 and 5 recite the limitation "a (the) device" in line 2 of claim 4 and line 1 in claim 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. The lack of antecedent basis renders the claims confusing, as it is unclear as to whether the device mentioned in the body of these claims refers to the entire device, or an element (singular device) within the device as a whole.

It should be noted for all of the claims that the use of reference numbers within claims does not give the element any particular patentable distinction through the numerical identification of the part in a figure of the device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Holcomb (6,084,671).

Regarding claims 1 and 9, Holcomb (Fig. 5) discloses a laser source 12, a detector 46 to detect a beam of light reflected from the surface of object 20, and a spatial filter 40 that is associated with the reflected light by being 'downstream' from the examined object. Holcomb's disclosure of the claimed elements of the invention leads to the disclosure of the claimed method as well.

As for claims 2 and 10, the spatial filter 40 is an inverse spatial filter that removes from the beam a Gaussian intensity profile corresponding to the laser light 12 given to the light by spatial filter 34.

Claims 1-6 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Kempe (6,151,127).

Regarding claims 1 and 9, Kempe (Fig. 1) discloses a combined laser source 14, a photodetector 38 for detecting light from the object 12, and a phase modulator 34 as a mode filter associated with the reflected light. Kempe's disclosure of the claimed elements of the invention leads to the disclosure of the claimed method as well.

As for claims 2 and 10, the phase modulator 34 modulates the light beam coming from the laser source.

As for claim 3, Kempe discloses beam splitter 20.

As for claim 4, Kempe discloses phase modulator 34.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kempe (6,151,127) in view of Mueller et al ("Determination and optimization . . . ")

As for claims 5 and 6, Kempe does not disclose the use of a Guoy phase shift for realizing a phase shift of a mode through 180°. The use of a Guoy phase shift is well known, however, as disclosed by Mueller et al in the paper "Determination and optimization of mode matching into optical cavities by heterodyne detection". It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use Guoy phase shifts to realize a phase shift through 180° in the device of Kempe.
